

Traditional Japanese Medicine Seminars of Portland presents:

Shonishin:
Japanese Pediatric Acupuncture
with Brenda Loew, MAc, LAc

Saturday October 2, 2010
9:00am - 5:00pm

Montavilla Wellness Clinic
7817 SE Stark
Portland, OR 97215

$165 - Professionals
$99 - Students (Masters or Doctoral)

Approved for 7.5 NCCAOM PDAs

Shonishin is a unique, non-invasive and gentle pediatric style of acupuncture that developed over 250 years ago in Japan. Safe, quick, and easy to perform, these Japanese acupuncture methods are well received by infants and children.

This workshop is designed for both novice and experienced practitioners; no experience in Traditional Japanese Medicine is necessary. You will learn new skills that can be immediately applied in your clinical practice. Our focus throughout will be on practical skill development.

To find out more and register for this exciting opportunity please visit

www.pdxTJMseminars.com

Seminar at a Glance...

We begin with an overview of the history and development of Shonishin in Japan.

Diagnostic assessment, treatment strategies and discussion of the root and branch treatments will be covered. Ample time to practice techniques with various tools will be provided*. The most common pediatric conditions will be discussed, e.g. respiratory diseases, gastrointestinal disorders, nervous system disorders, ADHD, ear infections, and sleep disturbances. Demonstration of learned techniques will occur via clinical theatre. If you have a child you want to receive a demonstration treatment, please contact us via email. Ample time will be provided for Q&A.

Bio...

Brenda specializes in Japanese acupuncture techniques. She started her practice in 1991 and has been an authorized Toyohari-style instructor since 1998. She has completed advanced studies with senior meridian therapy teachers in Japan, Europe and the United States. Brenda is the current president of the Toyohari Association of North America. She was on the faculty of NIAOM from 1994-2000 and currently serves as Adjunct Faculty at both the Wu Hsing Tao School in Seattle and Pacific Rim College in Victoria, BC Canada, and is on the Continuing Education faculty at Bastyr University. She is also the co-founder of the Japanese Acupuncture Institute, LLC.

*Participants have the option (not required) to purchase Shoninshin supplies from the instructor at the seminar. Items range from $20 to $200 (plus 9.5% sales tax) – cash and checks only (no credit cards). You can also choose to order directly from an instructor-recommended supplier, Katie Yankula, which allows payment via PayPal: www.katieyankula.com

To find out more and register for this exciting opportunity please visit

www.pdxTJMseminars.com